

Dear Valued Client,

This communication is to confirm Touchwood's position in relation to the current political media coverage of Thailand.

As a global organization we want to reassure all our clients and partners of the steps we take to mitigate their risk if the unforeseen happens.

Touchwood's management of risk is a key strength in our proven business model. In establishing a business unit Touchwood's risk assessment team factor every area of the business, this ensures that whatever product a client purchases all issues have been considered. E.g.

- o Each plantation site does not exceed approximately 100 acres
- o We employ local people whose income depends on the plantation they maintain
- o Plantations are at least 2.5 hours drive from any major cities

Touchwood was founded in Sri Lanka amongst a civil war that continued for the first 10 years of operations. This had no effect on our company's rapid growth over its 11-year history.

Our understanding of people and different cultures is partly the reason why our business model has delivered on-target returns for two years.

We look forward to delivering on our promise of a healthy harvest and helping to secure your financial future whilst looking after the environment.

Best regards,

Touchwood Head Office Thailand
